

LITURGICAL MUSIC: Music in the Initiating Community

Liturgical Certification Program Workshop Series, 2010

CONTENT

You Have Built Your House of Living Stones: Music in the Initiating Community.

This workshop will explore ways of forming the parish community through its liturgical music. We will look at Sunday as a model and opportunity for formation in Christ by not only what we sing, but who sings, how we sing, and why we sing. We will also explore the connections between repertoire and our faith and immersion in the Pascal Mystery of God, and the work of the Holy Spirit as God re-creates and re-forms the Church in the image of Christ.

Additionally, we will look at the individual rites of the R.C.I.A. from the perspective of music, and share strategies for integrating music in each of the liturgical rites.

FACILITATOR

Rory Cooney

Rory Cooney is an accomplished composer, skilled liturgist and parish music director. His published compositions span a career of songwriting which began nearly thirty-five years ago, and continues to the present. His music expresses a deep reverence for the text, as well as, ongoing concerns for the practical needs of the parish. His recording career began in 1984 and he is known for his collaborations with his wife, Theresa Donohoo and Gary Daigle. Rory works with various institutes of the North American Forum on the Catechumenate and Institutes on Christian Initiation. After serving eleven years as director of liturgy and music at St. Jerome Catholic Community in Phoenix, he is currently the director of liturgy and music ministries at St. Anne Church in Barrington, Illinois.
