Eric Scheidler	“Love and Responsibility: Why the Church Has It Right on Contraception” The papal succession process earlier this year brought unprecedented international attention to the teachings and traditions of the Catholic Faith, particularly the Church's more counter-cultural teachings, like her condemnation of contraception. We learned that the Church's teaching on contraception is widely rejected by Catholics themselves, more than any other teaching. But few who reject this teaching really understand it at even the most basic level. Learn why the Church has it right on contraception, and how essential this teaching is to the destiny of mankind.

Ottawa St. Joliet, IL 60432	Bob Frazee	“Stages of Faith: How you grow into your Faith” Just as over time we grow and develop as persons, so too does our faith evolve. Based on the work of Psychologist and Theologian James Fowler this presentation will explore the ways in which Faith changes as a person works his way along the journey of life. Rather than looking at the content of our Faith this will be a personal reflection on how our faith is lived out in the things we do.
