Sharing Catholic Social Teaching: Challenges and Directions

Reflections of the U.S. Catholic Bishops

United States Catholic Conference (Washington, D.C., 1998)

Introduction

RCL is pleased to provide this correlation of Faith First Legacy Grades 1–6 and Faith First Legacy Junior High with the latest statement on Catholic social teachings from the U.S. Bishops. In the introduction to Sharing Catholic Social Teaching, the bishops highlight two gifts with which the Catholic community is gifted: our remarkable commitment to Catholic education and catechesis in all its forms and our rich tradition of Catholic social teachings. The document calls for a “strengthened commitment to sharing our social teachings at every level of Catholic education.” The bishops urge us to recognize that because social justice is at the heart of who we are and what we believe, it must be shared more effectively.

In the document, the bishops call on Catholic educators and administrators to “address the lack of familiarity with Catholic social teaching among faculty and students.” Our bishops also encourage the development of formation programs to “enhance the explicit teaching of Catholic social doctrine” in the ministry of religious education. The bishops further urge publishers of Catholic educational materials “to continue and to strengthen efforts to incorporate the principles of Catholic social teaching into all materials.”

In Sharing Catholic Social Teaching, the bishops outline seven key themes that are “at the heart of our Catholic social tradition.” These themes are summarized on the next page. On the following pages, you will find a chart that shows how these key themes are developed and taught in Faith First Legacy Grades 1–6 and Faith First Legacy Junior High. Our commitment at RCL is an ongoing partnership with religious educators, administrators, parents, and students. Working together, we can challenge our young people to live their faith and to put into practice the Church’s social doctrines in their daily lives.

Major Catholic Social Teaching Themes

Life and Dignity of the Human Person

Human life is sacred and the dignity of the human person is the foundation of a moral vision for society. Every person is precious, people are more important than things, and the measure of every institution is whether it threatens or enhances the life and dignity of the human person.

Call to Family, Life, and Participation

The human person is not only sacred but also social. The family is the central institution that must be supported and strengthened. Human beings grow and achieve fulfillment in community. People have a right and a duty to participate in society. Government and other institutions must protect human life and dignity and promote the common good.

Rights and Responsibilities

Every person has a fundamental right to life and a right to those things required for human decency. Corresponding to these rights are duties and responsibilities—to one another, to our families, and to the larger society.

Option for the Poor and Vulnerable

Catholic teaching proclaims that a basic moral test is how our most vulnerable members are faring. Our tradition points to the story of the Last Judgment (Mt 25:31–46) and teaches us to put the needs of the poor and vulnerable first.

The Dignity of Work and the Rights of Workers

The economy must serve people. Work is more than a way to make a living, it is a continuing participation in God’s creation. To protect the dignity of work, the basic rights of workers must be respected—the right to productive work, to decent and fair wages, to organize and join unions, to private property, and to economic initiative.

Solidarity

Catholic social teaching proclaims that we are our brothers’ and sisters’ keepers. We are one human family, whatever our national, racial, ethnic, economic, and ideological differences. The virtue of solidarity means loving our neighbor in an interdependent world.

Care for God’s Creation

Care for the earth is a requirement of our faith. We are called to protect people and the planet, living our faith in relationship with all God’s creation.
